Dear Sir,

I enclose a rather dirty and battered programme of Mr Bannon's Dancing Glass Ball, which I hope will be of interest to you. The children all thoroughly enjoyed the classes and especially the Balls.

Please do not trouble to return the programme. I found it in an old cookery Book with a recipe written on the back.

I called on one of the girls mentioned in this programme, who I feel certain danced the sword dance you mention and went with Mr Bannon to the various country districts to demonstrate the dances for him. She was, unfortunately, not at home.

Yours faithfully,

Rachel Rooking (Mrs)

On Sep. 19th, I visited Mrs Rooking, and she then told me that the girl in question was Mrs Muriel Todd (see later), one of the Hoggart girls mentioned by Mr and Mrs Theodore Cannon.
